Section E: Proposed Research

E1. Research problem and justification

Describe the research problem that is to be investigated and justification of the project. The description should demonstrate a clear analysis of the problem; outline identified gaps in knowledge with reference to literature and relevant policy-related documents among others. Maximum 1500 words.

E2. Research objectives

Provide a clear and concise description of both the general objective and specific objectives of the research project. Note that research objectives should be specific, measurable, attainable, realistic and time-bound. Maximum 300 words.

E3. Methodology

Describe the proposed research design and methodology. This section should discuss the following details as appropriate such as: theoretical and conceptual framework; data collection and analyses; and ethical considerations among others. Maximum 1500 words.

E4. Collaboration

Describe the roles and responsibilities of the various project applicants in delivering the stated objectives of the project. Details of in-kind contributions, if any, should be provided in this section. Maximum 500 words. Note: Letters of commitment from all named Co-applicant Organization(s) must be submitted with this application.

E5. Capacity building

Describe any capacity building and training aspects of the proposed research project (including researchers, partners, government officers, and community groups). Elaborate how capacity will be retained throughout the course of the project and beyond. Maximum 750 words.

E6. Monitoring and evaluation

Describe how the project will carry out monitoring and evaluation activities of the project. Maximum 500 words. Note: A theory of change pathway must be submitted with this application. Please refer to the FAQ for a detailed description.

E7. Social equity and gender

Describe how the research will contribute to outcomes that contribute to social transformation. In particular, how the project results will lead to societal changes that do not compromise the empowerment of both women and men, as well as girls and boys. Maximum 500 words.

E8. Risks and mitigation strategies

Provide a concise, but thorough assessment of potential risks related to the project, including any risk mitigation strategies. Maximum 500 words.

E9. Results and communication

Provide a description of expected key results and outputs of the project. Include a proposed communications strategy, including target audience(s), key messages, products, channels, and tools in order to disseminate project results. We recommend consulting the Open Access Policy for IDRC-Funded Project Outputs. Maximum 750 words.

E10. Development outcomes

Provide a description of anticipated development outcomes for the project and their scale.
Maximum 300 words.
